AIIM-OnDemand Exposition & Conference 2008, Boston/USA (March 3-6, 2008)
PDF Tools AG, Winkel/Switzerland – Booth # 3261

The highlight at our booth is the new "3-Heights Document Converter Service", which allows the archiving of E-Mails together with all attachments in one single file in PDF/A format, the new ISO-standard for long-term archiving. This innovative approach will help IT managers all over the world solve the problem of long-term E-Mail archiving. The tool also converts "normal" MS Office documents and pictures to PDF, PDF/A, TIFF and other formats. This new product completes our wide range of PDF/A conform products. We also introduce the "3-Heights Java Document Viewer" for quick and easy viewing of PDF and image files. With the new PDF Online Applications, our technology can be used to solve many complex PDF tasks directly online on www.pdf-online.com.

New approach and maximum security in E-Mail and MS Office Document archiving

The archiving of E-Mails and MS Office documents is a big challenge for most companies. The "3-Heights Document Converter Service" automatically converts MS Office documents and E-Mails in Outlook Message format to PDF or PDF/A, according to the new ISO-Standard 19005-1. In an automated process, both the original E-Mail and the attachments are stored in a single PDF/A-file, also listing all attachments as bookmarks. The main benefit is that the full content of the E-Mail is retained and remains fully searchable, yet minimizing the risk of future manipulation. A digital signature can also be applied, giving companies even more security for preserving these E-Mails and documents for decades. Thanks to its scalable multi-tier architecture, the component can be used in one installation by any number of users - from one to several hundreds - and provides fast and reliable results. You will find more details about this new product in our next Newsflash.

New "3-Heights Java Document Viewer" for DMS and ECM systems

Our new "3-Heights Java Document Viewer" is a powerful and flexible component that enables applications, such as DMS or ECM systems, to view, print, and rasterize various document formats including PDF, TIFF, JPEG, BMP, JB2, JP2, JPX, PNG, GIF, and ASCII text. The tool gives the application programmer utmost freedom in designing the user interface and is delivered with an extensive GUI implementation for the Java Swing framework.

SaaS (Software as a Service) and "pay-per-use" are in everybody's mind in the IT world. With www.pdf-online.com, many PDF challenges can quickly and easily be solved directly online, based on our products. Damaged PDF files can be analyzed and repaired, images can be converted to PDF (and vice versa), the size of PDF files can be optimized, pictures and texts can be extracted etc. etc. And this at almost no cost or even free (in evaluation mode).

Also the full range of other PDF and PDF/A tools – including our award winning "3-Heights PDF to PDF/A Converter" – will be shown at our booth # 3261 at AIIM-OnDemand Exposition & Conference 2008.

First International PDF/A Conference in Amsterdam \(April 10-11, 2008\)

The PDF/A Competence Center is holding its first international PDF/A Conference in Amsterdam this spring. PDF/A specialists from around the globe will be on-hand at the event, being held April 10th and 11th, 2008 in the Hilton Hotel.

The two-day conference features the newest trends and possibilities for using the ISO standard format for long-term archiving, presented by users from major international corporations, renowned developers and manufacturers, as well as international PDF/A experts. Speakers include Leonard Rosenthol (Technical Standards Evangelist) and Dr. Jim King (PDF Architect), both from Adobe Systems Inc., as well as Rory Staunton (Managing Director of Strategy Partners International) und Stephen Levenson (US District Courts).

More details can be found on www.pdfa.org or directly in the conference programme and in the conference flyer, which includes a registration form and online registration. The two-day conference costs 870.00 Euro.
